

Jenny McCleave

October 17, 2018

To Whom It May Concern:

I was startled to get a cease and desist letter from Mr. [REDACTED], considering how he has severely affected my quality of living in the West Munden neighborhood, and now he has found a way to stalk me online as well.

I never introduced myself to Mr. [REDACTED], nor do my family associate with him. So, I'm confused as to how he knows who I am and where I live.

Perhaps, he learned my name and address from the police reports that I had to file against him and his associates for constantly circling around my house and throwing trash in my lawn.

However, Mr. [REDACTED] is probably more familiar with the last name McCleave because he seems to have exhibited obsessive behaviors toward my family for decades. He has started fights with my father over trees in our yard. A long-lost cousin came to visit and immediately recognized Mr. [REDACTED] license plate because he's the one who had an affair with my cousin's wife and broke up his marriage. Now, he has "pointed" me and my household out to several people that he knows.

If anyone's character has been defamed, it's my family because of Mr. [REDACTED]. Due to his actions, people that I don't even know have taken a personal interest in my life and my family's life.

For example, a senior black male named S [REDACTED] J [REDACTED] is either a good friend or relative of Mr. [REDACTED]. I, nor my family has never met or associated with Mr. J [REDACTED]. However, several times in the past Mr. J [REDACTED] has decided that he wants to watch my family and I on a regular basis. So much so, that I can no longer enjoy sitting in my backyard or even mow my lawn anymore.

Mr. J [REDACTED] managed to arrive and park in front of my house every single time I would come out and mow my lawn. Not one time, not two times, but every single time. He never parked in front of [REDACTED]'s house or used [REDACTED]'s driveway. The only way Mr. J [REDACTED] could have known when I was outside is if Mr. [REDACTED] told him.

One day [REDACTED] and J [REDACTED] stood in [REDACTED]'s driveway, whispering to each other with smirks on their faces as they watched me mowing the lawn. So, I contacted my father and he now hires someone to do it.

On other occasions, Mr. J [REDACTED] was obviously summoned by Mr. [REDACTED]. I have personally witnessed Mr. J [REDACTED] arrive, walk down the sidewalk, stand in front of my house to look at my windows, doors and under my carport. Apparently after seeing that the way was "clear" he walks back over to [REDACTED]'s driveway and tells him that the way is clear for him to come out. Then, he goes inside [REDACTED]'s house watches us from his windows until [REDACTED] returns.

I have personally witnessed Mr. J [REDACTED] throwing his trash in my lawn. Now, why would someone whom I've never met or even share a neighborhood with take time out of their lives to come over to my street to throw trash in my yard? The answer is easy. It's because Mr. [REDACTED] has made defamatory statements about us. Mr. J [REDACTED] isn't the first person to do it and he's not the last.

Since 2009/2010, I have personally witnessed Mr. [REDACTED] pick-up debris from storms out of his driveway and throw it into mine. Now, he has been inviting other people he knows to do it. Mr. [REDACTED] associates park in front of my house and leave their trash in my yard. Trash like McCafe coffee cups, food wrappers, beverage tops. Mr. J [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] would also throw plastic bags into my back lawn knowing that we have a dog. All I do is clean it up, while Mr. [REDACTED] and his friends sit back and laugh.

December 2017 -- a week before Christmas -- [REDACTED] had a female in a gray Corvette circle my house. I personally witnessed her sitting in her cold, dark car waiting for my sister to get back from the grocery store. The moment my sister returned, she left. Additionally, she would drive around the block from time to time at night as well.

Mr. [REDACTED] has displayed controlling behavior as if he owns my house. Every time I open my bedroom window that's unfortunately too close to his back door. He starts keeping all kinds of noises around 6-7am to try to make me close it. For example, he sits in his car and start playing music, he starts up loud power tools or just keeps slamming car doors. The moment I close the window everything gets quiet.

I try to stay out of Mr. [REDACTED]'s and his associates way, so if I don't see anyone around I try to come out the house then. However, he has eyes on this entire block and they tell him that I made a move. The next time, he leaves someone in his house to watch me.

When I put up a security camera system, Mr. [REDACTED] told his friends in 1 [REDACTED] Street I have cameras installed before I had finished putting them all up. How did I know this? Mr. [REDACTED] was watching my windows.

The first camera I put up was in a bedroom window near his backdoor. The people in 1 [REDACTED] Street can't see around that side of the house unless they walk into Mr. [REDACTED]'s driveway. Everyone that was parked at the 1 [REDACTED] Street house cleared out before I even installed the other cameras and didn't come back until nighttime when they felt like the cameras don't work.

All of this harassment or acts of intimidation has increased since Mr. [REDACTED] found out I was reporting crime in the neighborhood from another neighbor on the block.

As for what I wrote on the Nextdoor website. I am exercising my First Amendment rights. Everything that I wrote, I believe to be true. I shared a negative experience, and Mr. [REDACTED] and his associates just happen to be contributing to my negative experience. I never wrote anything on Nextdoor describing Mr. [REDACTED]'s house or peeping through my windows. However, I do have a blog that I wrote with a picture of a window, but it's about a neighbor named Joe. Nowhere in my blog post states Mr. [REDACTED]'s name at all. If Mr. [REDACTED] relates to the character "Joe" on my blog, that's not my problem.

I made a statement on Nextdoor on September 7, 2018, [REDACTED] was not a member at that time. However, someone was already there on Nextdoor keeping him informed about my whereabouts. This certainly confirms that Mr. [REDACTED] is constantly watching my family and I. On September, 11, 2018, Mr. [REDACTED] just became a part of the Nextdoor community.

I strongly believe that my accusations are not frivolous. Before I wrote anything online, I spoke with police officers, presented them with the facts as I know it. They suggested that I file reports and so I did. I posted on Nextdoor because I was fed up of getting bullied by Mr. [REDACTED] and his associates.

Myself and members of my household have smelled propane gas smells coming from his backyard. We have experienced illness from inhaling it. I have personally witnessed the propane tanks in Mr. [REDACTED]'s backyard. Him and S [REDACTED] J [REDACTED] were moving around propane tanks late at night in his backyard and there was a spill. I woke up the next morning and the spill seeped into my backyard and killed a patch of grass and killed the branches that were growing through my fence.

We have had to endure awful sewage-like smells that came through the back windows of my house and worked their way through my entire house. It started 3am and the smell didn't dissipate until 10 am.

His friends in 1 [REDACTED] Street weren't even bothering us as bad as they are now until Mr. [REDACTED] informed them about me reporting crime.

I noticed that Mr. [REDACTED]'s cease and desist letter is dated October 15, 2018. However, he was informed by someone that I posted on Nextdoor as soon as it happened on Sept. 7, 2018. He signed up on Nextdoor on Sept. 11, 2018. Mr. [REDACTED] didn't head to a law office until after he tied up some loose ends. I posted that Mr. J [REDACTED] was driving around in his tan pickup truck when he decided to park in [REDACTED]'s driveway, stand in front of my house at 8:30 pm and throw his empty pastry paper in my front lawn by the big pine tree. On Sept. 18, 2018 [REDACTED] had that same pickup truck towed. On Sept, 29, 2018, he had his backyard pressure-washed, which by the way smelled awful while it was happening.

How come I'm just receiving a cease and desist letter in mid October, when Mr. [REDACTED] knew about it for over a month? How come he had to wait until after he pressure-washed his backyard and had his truck that he lent Mr. J [REDACTED] towed? Surely, he has the funds. Mr. [REDACTED] has the biggest house on the block and I believe he has a Jag too.

I must admit after he pressure-washed his backyard the air was a lot fresher.

I would like Mr. [REDACTED] and his associates to leave me and my family alone. I want him to stay out of our lives and stop harassing us. Stop keep throwing trash in my lawn and pointing me out to everyone you know as "the people that calls the cops." After he watches my house all day, and has other people doing it, now he's stalking me online?

Sincerely,

Jenny McCleese